"WHO ARE YA?!"

We are Planet Football; the celebration of all things football.

While others write match reports, manager quotes and opinions, we cover football like nobody else.

We love the 'Nutmeggers', the 'Trivelas' and 'No-lookers'. We don't focus on the negatives of football, but create content that is enjoyable, funny, yet respected and reachable for our young target audience.

We are the home of Quizzes, Nostalgia and Wonder kids.

We are Planet Football.

OUR BRAND VOICE

In short– here at Planet Football, we're just a bit of fun and don't take ourselves too seriously.

We are a friendly, funny bunch - but fans should think we're laughing with them, not at them.

We're all about in-jokes and self-deprecating humour. We don't ever want anyone to get annoyed reading one of our articles.

Our tone of voice is friendly and informal. We feel Planet Football is an extension of the conversation football fans have with their friends in the pub, coffee shop or on their WhatsApp chats.

PRIMARY LOGO

The primary logo innit, our reliable to-go. Use this as the default, or if you prefer one of the other variations, use that instead. The main thing is that it looks great in whatever context you choose to use it!

SECONDARY LOGO

Our secondary logo stacks the type to fit better where other don't... or just use it if it looks better, up to you really, as long as it looks swish.

COLOUR VARIATIONS

These mono versions of the logo work well in a variety of circumstances and should be utilised only when the core brand colours are deemed inappropriate (or don't look good!) within the context of the creative.

PF SYMBOL

As it says on the tin, the symbol is a symbolic part of the Planet Football brand, utilised in a variety of scenarios both in and outside of product.

Think social profiles, favicons, video clips, app icons and wherever else it makes sense. It should be instantly recognisable to those familiar with the Planet Football brand.

WORDMARK

In certain circumstances, a wordmark version of the logo will be required. It should only be used when the full logo isn't necessary or appropriate.

Examples of this include compositions where the logo is already present within the same piece of creative, or when a simpler version of the logo fits better within the design e.g. in corporate print material.

The Black weight is to be used for any written headline copy or titles.

Combined with Regular for any body copy.

TYPOGRAPHY STYLING

We apply no set rules to our typography - whatever feels right and appropriate works for us.

In some-cases our standard Black headline weight combined with Regular copy weight works just fine. However, sometimes we like to combine a variety of weights, or utilise Italics to create emphasis on certain words, especially when we are attempting to be funny.

As a whole, have fun with the typography and do it what seems right. We trust you...

BRAND PATTERNS

There are no strict guidelines when using our brand patterns. We have an array of pitch markings, arrows and half-tone patterns which can be used to add depth and detail to designs.

The patterns should be used moderately and in conjunction with Off-Black or White from Planet Football's brand palette.

Usage of the patterns should not be overwhelming or distracting.

BRAND PARTNERSHIPS

We may occasionally want to use our logo alongside a partner brand or collaborator's logo.

When this is required, use the examples to the right, using either the Horizontal or Vertical stacked version, ensuring to keep the required clear space.

From Instagram posts to TikTok videos and reels, our playful brand should be clear and present in any creative we put out on our social channels.
